These titles look carefully at all aspects of the animals: habitat, food, adaptations, reproduction, and more. These books also focus on how we know about animals, through scientific observations and studies both in the wild and in captivity, and also acknowledge what isn't known. Another discussion covers what we are doing to save (or control) them.

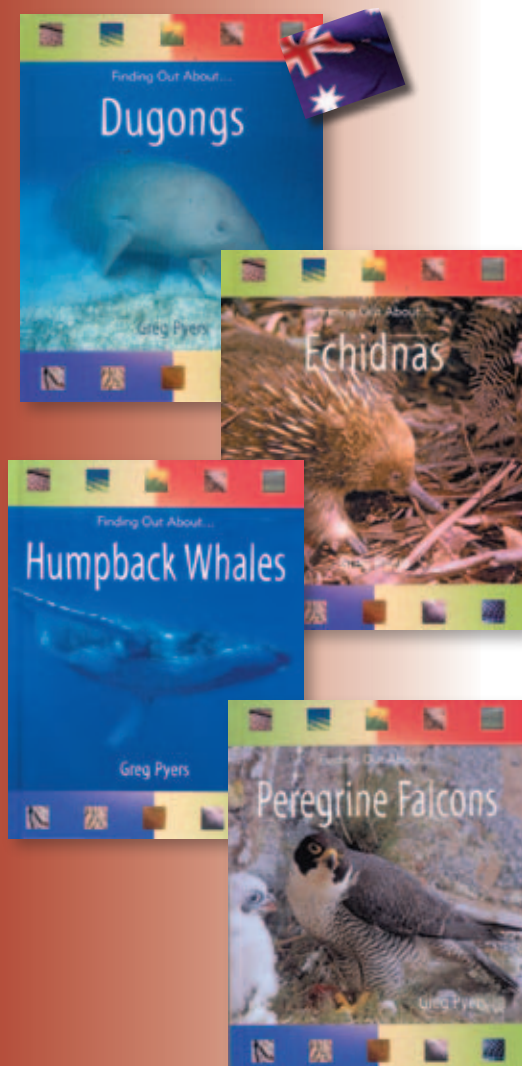

Features of this book include:

- * Lots of great colour photographs
- * Award-winning author
- * Each book contains information about real people studying or working with the animal today
- * Each book includes fact and "How do we know?" boxes; a "Finding out more" listing, a glossary & an index

Actual text size:
